One Way to Cure Habit of Stuttering.

Recently a well-known woman physician wrote a pamphlet on "Stuttering in Children," and sent it to all her friends. In it she told the mothers of all children who are inclined to stutter that the way to eradicate the affliction is to notice it.

"Pay no attention to it," she wrote; "but when the child talks particularly badly, praise him for it. Keep him in the open air as much as possible. There are only a few cases that may be cured by a special treatment."

Remember as a Ruricle Alarm. Mrs. Hubb, a lady, has been told by a friend that she should say "It's L" and "I" when she stutters.

Mrs. Hubb, then says, "It's L" and "I" when she stutters, and says the same thing—yet she is cured.

Mrs. Hubb—Oh, a thief wouldn't answer "It's L," but say, "It's me."

Who Knows the Shaddock?

And here is a man who says that the shaddock isn't the grape fruit at all—that they are no more alike than pigs are like apples. "I have," he says, "never seen a shaddock here in the market. The shaddock is a big as six grape fruits. You would have to get more than 75 cents for it, because one shaddock would serve a party of six any time. The juice tastes very different from the grape fruit." He also declares that the grape fruit should not have any bitter taste—that this taste is imparted to it by falling on the ground, the spray from the fruit being sold through the pulp by the mill. "If," he says, "Americans could get the fruit of the grape fruit as it is picked they would never again eat the fruit that has been knocked about from hand to hand." All of which is referred to the scientific men, who say that the shaddock and the grape fruit and the pomelo are all citrus decumana, and consequently the same thing—New York Mail.

Miss Craig has resigned her position in the School of the Ozarks, and there is a rumor afloat that she has decided that matrimony is a more noble vocation than pedagogy.

The Market Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, June 23.—1913. Cattle receipts at all points today were very light, and the market here was 10 to 25 cents above last Thursday. A rather unsatisfactory market last week together with plentiful rains all over the pasture and corn country, reduced incentives to ship to a minimum. Buyers over reached themselves last week in bearing down on prices, figuring on a normal supply to day. They were able to act as they did last week account of the week end holidays, but to day found them in the saddle early, and with rush orders. Native steers sold at $8.75 in two cases, a large number of fed steers at $8.40 and upwards, yearling heifers at $8.65 bulk of the natives $5.50 to $6.50, veal calves up to $9.00. In the Southern division only 77 cars arrived as compared with 239 cars a week ago and grass steers sold at $5.65 to $6.70 some caked steers up to $7.50. Some 963 pound steers from Kiowa, Oklahoma at $6.60, were from some heard that produced steers at $6.25 a week ago. Stockers and feeders were 15 to 25 higher to day, with bulk of the stock steers selling at $6.00 to $7.60 feeders worth $7.10 to $8.00. The run of 7,000 cattle to day was only a few more than half what was expected. The close of the market to day was its strongest time, and unless there is a good run later this week further advances will be in order. Hog receipts were also light at 4,000 here and the market is 15 higher top $8.92 1-2 bulk $8.85 to $8.90. Packers restrained themselves to-day account of the small supply, but a fair run tomorrow will sell sharply higher again. Speculators were the principal buyers to day, and the general expectancy points to higher prices later in the week. Sheep and lambs received to-day 4,000 head, market 10 to 15 higher. Spring lambs sold up to $7.25 to day. Texas muttons 4.75 to 4.85 native wethers worth up to 5.00 ewes 4.50 for best. Black face breeding ewes, good mouths may be had at 3.25 to 3.75.

J. A. RICKART,
Market Correspondent.

The three gentlemen whose pictures appear above are the ones who have been on the job all the time in the construction of the dam. From left to right they are: Mr. T. O. Kennedy, Secretary of the White River Construction Company, and purchasing agent for all the supplies used on the big job; Mr. W. E. Maxson, Superintendent of Construction for the Ambursen Hydraulic Construction Company; Mr. Russell T. Bailey, Resident Engineer.

These three men, who are probably better known to most of the people in this part of the country than any others connected with the big project, have made many warm friends since their coming here and all of their friends will certainly be sorry when the time comes for them to move to other fields of labor. No one ever went to the site of the big job to see what was going on that he was not treated in a most courteous manner, and if he was wise enough to go to the office of the company and ask to be shown over the works it was nearly always one of these three men who took him in charge and showed and told him all he wished to know concerning the works. They are big men, clear minded and broad sighted, just the kind you always find at the head and front of propositions of this kind.
